—The explosion of the steamer at Vallejo has brought out the fact that the California Boiler Inspector has been not only lax and incompetent, but has been levying assessments on those whose boilers he has inspected. Joe Raycraft has located a mine in the hill Southwest of the city nearly opposite Owen Thorne's ranch, and called it "The Dan De Quille," after the veteran mining reporter.

He found an old abandoned prospect hole, which someone had given up in disgust, and by digging about eighteen inches further came onto a gold ledge with well defined clay walls. The quartz is very lively and promising, and the ledge at only a few feet deep, has widened to three feet.

Yesterday he pounded some of the stuff in a mortar and panned out free gold. It is a very promising discovery, and he proposes to work it for profit. The claim is near the road, where thousands of people have been passing for years and paying no attention to it.

Every day, now, some little mineral discovery is made about Carson, and if those hills were only properly prospected, a big ledge would be found.

Gould & Curry Assessment.

The Gould & Curry Mining Company have levied an assessment of 50 cents per share. Had mining facilities been available, says The S. F. Report, about 1,000 tons of fair grade ore already ext acted could have been worked for account of this mine and added to the resources of the company. It is expected that when the California mine is in operation next month, this ore will be worked, and by that time the quartz will be larger. An important crosscut has been started on the 1300 level at the South line of the mine, which has a good chance of striking ore, as the Savage mine which adjoins the Gould & Curry on the South is showing well in that vicinity.

Could and Sage.

Judge Cowing is being sharply criticised for his ruling that the bar of the statute of limitations in the Gould-Sage Kansas Pacific Railroad case began to run at the time of perpetration of the alleged grand larceny and not from the time of its discovery. That may be what is called "sound law" in New York, but it is very perilous law for the public there and everywhere else. All that is needed for immunity to such crimes as those defendants are charged with is escape from accidental exposure or success in concealing the offence. The grand jury very plainly informed Judge Cowing that it was owing to his advice and rulings they did not feel warranted in finding an indictment against Messrs. Gould and Sage.

Joek on the Major.

The following is from Fred Hall's new paper in San Francisco: "Judge," said Colonel-Mayor Storehill to Judge Toobigh, "I suppose, sah, that you read in the papers about that booky that Frankie sent me (the Major-Colonel has a pleasant habit of always speaking and addressing prominent people by their given name.) "Frankie, Frankie," said the Joodge, "is that the name of Kee ray Staratemash?" "Why Jedge, Grover's wife is named Frankie, I mean Frankie Cleveland, sah, the leading lady of the land sah." "Whisnt, Meejor, if it was to git out 'C'ave' hab bin wastin the Government conservatories on the loikes of yourself, it wud be zither spohilin me spache in the Tar Flat Dimmycratic Clob on Aconimmy and Reform widin the parthy."

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

There was a large audience in the Criterion last evening to witness the presentation of Uncle Tom's Cabin, and those present were amply repaid for attending. The company was the best that ever visited this city. George T. Dorsey as "Uncle Tom," Genie Fursman as "Eva," The Hyer Sisters as the two "Topsy's," were the finest characters ever witnessed here. The dogs and the donkey were immense. The entire entertainment was first-class. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Being More Pleasant

To the taste, more acceptable to the stomach, and more truly beneficial in its action, the famous California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of figs, is rapidly superseding all others. Try it. One bottle will prove its merits. For sale by Geo. C. Thaxter, agent.

Consul-General Waller's claim to the distinction of having reminded the fine old word "mugwump" and slipped it into political circulation is disputed by the friends of Wm. P. Fuller, formerly of the Evening Press of Hartford, and afterward of the Courant of the same city, but now of Detroit, Mich. The facts adduced by them are that on the 20th day of October, 1876, Mr. Fuller contributed to the Detroit Tribune a paragraph relating to a Tilden and Hendricks street-parade the night before, and running as follows: "There were 1,364 torches, 160 Mugwumps in carriages and 150 horses in the Democratic procession last night." Thereupon the Detroit Free Press (Dem.) fiercely demanded to know what a Mugwump was, and in another issue of the Tribune Mr. Fuller furnishes the desired information, as follows:

MUGWUMP, n [muh-gwump; FR. lejagasses; Sp. mugumpoia; GER. der muggerloggerbierich.] A mug who wumps; the bearer of the gonfalon; the small part of a Democratic procession which does not leave its cape, cap and torch at the Democratic headquarters and retire for lodging at the police station. MUGWUMP, v [muh-gwump]. To wave the gonfalon; to lodge at a police station after assisting at Democratic parades and slip off in the morning without being sent up for drunkenness; to dispense hiccoughs from a kerriage instead of stubbing your toes against your heels in the reformers' night parade; to wump with a mug.

—Possibly there would not be so many blades in the Public Printing Office, if there were fewer demagogues in Congress agitating grievances on labor questions, compulsory eight-hour laws and the like of that. A printing office run on political principles, where every other compositor is some man's man is not likely to be a success in "clean proofs."
